AQA HISTORY

Transition Task 2025

PURPOSE

The aim of this preparation work is to start to develop your knowledge of the two periods you will study during your A-Level; The Tudors, 1485-1603, and Weimar and Nazi Germany, 1919-1945.

TASKS

The History Team would like you to complete two tasks for your first History lesson in September. These have been designed to help bridge the gap between GCSE and A Level study:

Germany - complete the Key Events summary table in Section A of this booklet:

- Find out the date of each event
- Reduce each event into approximately 50 words
- Transform the event into an image / series of images
- Shade the thermometer 'how important' each event was
- Add a brief explanation of each event's importance around the thermometer

Tudors – Complete the tables in Section B of this booklet:

- Research the key terms and write a simple definition in your own words
- Create a diagram of the different levels of aristocracy and represent each one as an image.
- Summarise religion in medieval times; reduce the information into 50 words for each heading.
- Explain the positives and potential criticisms of the church.

Preparing for A Level History

Do you want to get even further “ahead of the game” before starting the course in September?

Are you interested in learning more about how Adolf Hitler was able to come into power, and the actions he took as leader?

Are you interested in discovering how English society, culture, religion and power changed during the Tudor Period?

If so, then please see the pages below for actions you can take to further your interests, and prepare for Year 12 and Year 13:

- 1. Preparing for the A Level Course – start to explore the topics and their foundations that you will study throughout the A level course.
- 2. Develop as a Historian – general reading around/watching videos/listening to podcasts etc. to develop your historical knowledge and understanding.

The most successful A level historians possess three vital skills: firstly, a strong grasp of the content; secondly, the ability to think critically, analyse information and reach conclusions; thirdly, strong written communication skills.

This guide is designed to provide you with reading, watching and listening lists to help you gather important, background knowledge that will widen your knowledge of the two topics you will study over the upcoming two years.

Also, the podcasts present you with opportunities to hone your critical thinking skills by showing you how historians craft an argument using evidence and evaluations. When listening to the podcasts, you should decide whether you agree or disagree with the opinion(s) the historian is presenting, based on your knowledge of the facts.

Please collate your research, notes and any questions you have together in a folder. If you do go on to study this course with us in Year 12, you will be able to start by sharing your preparation and thinking with your teacher and other students in the class. Specifically, you will be asked to share the three most interesting pieces of information you have learned, two questions you are ready to ask and one thing you would like to know more about (you will need to make a note of these). We cannot wait to hear what you come up with!

THE PAGES BELOW WILL HELP GIVE YOU IDEAS FOR WHAT YOU CAN DO TO DEVELOP AS A HISTORIAN AND PREPARE FOR AN A LEVEL IN HISTORY.

Preparing for A Level

At Ridgewood Sixth Form we follow the AQA A level in History. You will study and be examined on three components:

Component One: The Tudors, 1485-1603

Component Two: Germany, 1919-1945

Component Three: Non-Examined Assessment (this is a 4,500 independent research project on a topic of your choosing).

We have outlined each component for you below. This will support you to start doing some research and reading around the topics that you will cover during the two-year course.

If you want a starting point, in the September of Year 12 we look at the reasons for the Kaiser's abdication, and Henry VII's domestic policies.

Component One: The Tudors, 1485-1603	Component Two: Germany, 1919-1945
This option allows students to study in breadth issues of change, continuity, cause and consequence in this period through the following key questions: How effectively did the Tudors restore and develop the powers of the monarchy? In what ways and how effectively was England governed during this period? How did relations with foreign powers change and how was the succession secured? How did English society and economy change and with what effects? How far did intellectual and religious ideas change and develop and with what effects? How important was the role of key individuals and groups and how were they affected by developments? The following monarchs are studied in depth: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Henry VII- Henry VIII- Edward VI- Mary I- Elizabeth I	This option provides for the study in depth of a period of German history during which a newly developed democratic form of government gave way to a dictatorial Nazi regime. It explores political concepts such as 'right' and 'left', nationalism and liberalism as well as ideological concepts such as racialism, anti-Semitism and Social Darwinism. It also encourages reflection on how governments work and the problems of democratic states as well as consideration of what creates and sustains a dictatorship. The key events studied include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- The abdication of Kaiser Wilhelm II- The Treaty of Versailles- Hyperinflation, 1923- Wall Street Crash- The Reichstag Fire- Night of the Long Knives- Kristallnacht- The Wannsee Conference
